

Nokia Recalls Cell Phone Batteries

Contributed by Toni Livesey
Wednesday, 15 August 2007

Did you buy a new Nokia cell phone between December 2005 and November 2006?

If you did buy a new Nokia cell phone between those dates then you're one of 46 million people that Nokia would like to hear from. During that period Nokia used Matsushita Electric Industrial manufactured batteries in their phones and now there is a potential risk that the batteries could be faulty Nokia have now received around 100 reports of those batteries overheating during charging and if you have one that is overheating Nokia would like to replace the faulty battery.